Murray High Gets "A" Rating Douglass Highest In History

The State Board of Education has given Murray High School a rating of "A", a rating which it has received for the past fifteen years.

The rating was given at the regular meeting of the board on March 28.

Douglass High School received a straight "B" rating, which is the highest rating the school has received in its history. Heretofore, the rating of Murray's colored high school has been either "B" meaning an emergency, or a "BT" indicating the rating is temporary.

The rating of a straight "B" was given by the board after an investigation of the quality of work being done at Douglass High School and the professional qualifications of the teachers.

Prof. Leon P. Miller, a graduate of Kentucky State, has served efficiently as principal for eight years. Under his guidance and with the staff of six well qualified teachers, many outstanding improvements in the curriculum and the physical plant have been made.

Douglass High School is now one of the best equipped and staffed schools of its size in Western Kentucky.

Construction of a manual arts building has been completed and is now in use. Courses in woodwork are offered and Prof. William Ratliff is in charge. It is planned for additional courses in other trades to be given as demand increases and funds are available.

Prof. Ratliff is well qualified for his position as shop instructor. He is a graduate of Kentucky State College at Frankfort and holds only one summer's work having a Master's Degree from Indiana University. He plans to complete the requirements in the near future.

The new gym-auditorium with complete dressing rooms and showers, was completed three years ago at a cost of $8,000. It is second in size of all public school gyms in Calloway County and is probably the best equipped. The spacious athletic field was enclosed by a modern chain link fence two years ago.

Douglass has an active and progressive chapter of P.T.A. Mrs. Fanny Willis is president and through this organization many improvements have been made.

The school has an enrollment of 160 boys and girls.

One outstanding feature of the school is the manual arts building. It is a 32x20 foot building, well equipped for the teaching of woodwork. There are several power driven tools in the building including saws, joiners, and other power tools.

It is possible for a boy to follow the manual arts course for four years, and graduate with an excellent knowledge of carpentry.

The city school system is under the direction of the city school board with W. Z. Carter as superintendent. W. B. Moser is principal of Murray High School.

Beta Club Formed At Kirskey High

A local chapter of the National Beta Club, a service-leadership organization for high school students of America, was established on 17th March, at Kirskey High School, according to M. B. Rogers.

The National Beta Club, with over 2150 local chapters and approximately 61,000 members in high schools of 16 states, is now in its twenty-second year, and has been in continuous operation since 1933.

Objectives of this non-secret, leadership service organization are to encourage effort, to promote character, to stimulate achievement among its members and to encourage and assist students to continue their education after high school graduation.

Mildred Lassiter, teacher of English, was appointed as faculty sponsor for the local chapter.

Permanent officers for this year are: president, Billy Smith; vice-president, Charles Coleman; secretary, Edgar Doore; treasurer, Barbara Wuester; representative, Sue Culver; senator, Bobby Wilson.

The local organization is composed of the following students who have fulfilled the requirements necessary for membership in the National Beta Club, other than those named: Kenneth Simmons, Danny Billington, Linda Lawson, Carolyn Fulton.

X-RAYS OF SIAMESE TWINS BEFORE SEPARATION

X-Rays of the Siamese twins Prissana and Napit Polphinyo, 22 months old, are viewed in Chicago by the nurse who brought them from Thailand (Siam), Juaporn Kasemak. The twins, who were joined at the abdomen, are reported in good condition following a separation operation. Main surgical problem was dividing a fused liver which was about twice normal size for one of them. (International)

Most Who Collaborated With Reds Have Now Settled Down

A UNITED PRESS EXTRA
By MICHAEL J. NEILL
WASHINGTON 3P—Most of the Americans who collaborated with the Communists while they were prisoners in Korea have now returned to civilian life.

They are working and raising families and, in general, leading normal lives. They would like the nation to forget who they are and what they did.

But the case of the brainwashed POWs is far from closed. Defense Department officials said today it is still one of their most agonizing problems.

Just two years ago this month nearly 4,000 G.I. Marines and airmen began coming out of North Korea and China in the great Korean prisoner exchange. And with them came ugly facts.

Under torture and brainwashing and the stresses of captivity, some prisoners had broken down. They had confessed to waging germ warfare. They had made speeches denouncing the United States. They had betrayed their fellow POWs into torture and death. A few apparently had become genuine Communist sympathizers.

What was to be done with these men? Should they be accused or punished? Should they be kept in the service or released? For two years now the services have been wrestling with these questions and coming up with different answers.

The Air Force decided to be lenient. It made an intensive investigation of 63 cases, mostly involving Red propaganda statements made under force—and for the most part decided against disciplinary action.

Army Policy Sterner
In the only formal inquiry it undertook, the Marine Corps decided that Lt. Col. Frank H. Schwabe should not be disciplined for making false germ warfare confessions.

But it said he should never again be given a command requiring unblemished personal example and leadership. He will shortly be shifted from the Pentagon to a routine assignment in North Carolina.

The Army, which committed the most men to the Korean war, had the biggest problem. And it adopted the sternest policy. Regardless of extenuating circumstances, it said a man's misconduct could not be excused without damaging discipline.

Out of the 3,322 Army POWs repatriated from Korea, more than 400 were singled out for investigation of alleged misconduct. More than half of these were allowed to leave the service and another 43 were forced out. In most cases there were no grounds for harsher action.

Job Just Beginning
Officials said today that the vast majority of POWs who collaborated with the Communists did so only because they buckled under brainwashing or other pressures. There them of subversion now that they have returned to civilian life.

A few repatriated POWs, however, were suspected of being real Communist sympathizers. They were released to the Justice Department for investigation, but the department refuses to say what action it has taken, if any.

In addition to easing POWs out of the service and referring some to the Justice Department, the Army has ordered court-martial proceedings in 44 cases. Most of these still haven't been acted on, but there have been two administrative discharges, one acquittal, and five convictions so far.

After two years, the armed services have disposed of all but about 100 of the Korean cases. But the effort to make American fighting men more resistant to brainwashing is only beginning.

TAKE FALL

PHILADELPHIA 3P—Two detectives told reporters today they spent most of the time picking themselves off the floor of a skating rink while waiting for the order to arrest a skating burglar suspect.

At the proper moment, the detectives arrested the suspect, who was ordered held without bail on charges of taking $500 in jewelry from a north Philadelphia home last week.

Uncle Mun Key Of Henry County Is Known By Many Local Coon Hunters

Uncle Mun Key of Crossland, just West of Hazel, is pictured with his fine coon dog and several trophies hanging on the side of the building.

Homers "Uncle Mun" Key of Hazel, Henry County, Tennessee wrote to the Ledger and Times this week to tell local coon hunters that he is still in the business and going strong.

"Just a few lines to let the boys know I really enjoyed coon hunting last season with Mac and my buddies Clyde Hale, Jesse Key, Jack Brown, Robert Williams, Paul Dunn and Dan," he said.

"We have plenty of coons left for us to hunt next season. I think I hunted with the best just West of Hazel on Hazel route one.

Cleanup On Dust Storm Is Started

DALLAS, Tex. 3P—The great Southwest began cleaning up today after its "worst dust storm in 25 years."

There was still an inkling of the dust in the air but it had moved out to Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi and blowing itself out.

Only a trace of dust remained at Longview, Tex., where Friday visibility got down to a quarter of a mile.

Southwestern Public Utility Co. of Oklahoma made an early estimate of the damage.

Manager Grady Thompson of the utility firm said damage in the panhandle would run to $500,000 and called it the "worst in 25 years."

But the air over Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, southwestern Kansas, southeastern Colorado and southeastern New Mexico, where the dust originated, became pure again Friday night.

Residents of Texas and other states which had shut up against the dust began to sweep away the dust piles, shake out the curtains, and shine up the automobiles.

The clear air came as a welcome relief after dust, stirred up by an unseasonal cold front, boiled up to 21,000 feet, reduced visibility at some points to zero, and turned snowflakes into cold, slimy mudballs. Breathing also became difficult.

Eighteen National Guard infantry divisions, nine in Europe, nine in the far Pacific—were on duty during World War II.

This Week's Balance Sheet In The Hot And Cold Wars

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. President Eisenhower took direct issue with military leaders who had predicted a Chinese Communist attack on the Matsau and Quemoy islands starting about April 15—an attack which might force the United States into war. The President made it known he does not believe there will be such an attack. He said also, at a press conference, that too much speculation about war does not serve the peace and tranquility of the world.

2. The possibility of a Big Four conference with Russia was strengthened. Soviet Premier Niko-lai A. Bulganin said his government took a "positive attitude" toward the idea of a conference. The West German Communist Western Allies had determined to hold no conference until final ratification of the treaties to arm Western Germany. Approval of the treaties by the French Parliament made early ratification certain.

3. Britain announced it will join the new defense treaty between Turkey and Iraq. The British said it will strengthen the Allied military position in the Middle East. It also will be a blow to the "neutralism" of Egypt and India, which are trying to keep Asian and African countries from co-operating with the West.

The Bad

1. West Berlin was threatened with a new blockade by Soviet Russia, like the one that was smashed in 1949 by a historic airlift. The East German Communist authorities, announced the imposition of enormously increased highway tolls on supply trucks which move between Berlin and Western Germany through Soviet-occupied territory. The Reds said the toll increases were needed to pay for highway improvements. Allied and German authorities, feared, however, the action might be the first move toward a new blockade.

2. The threat of civil war in South Viet Nam in Indochina became increasingly serious. Twenty-six persons were killed in the suburbs of Saigon in a fight between government troops and those of dis-sident political-rebel sects which maintain private armies. One of the sects threatened a blockade of Saigon in an attempt to overthrow Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, who is supported by the United States.

3. Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru warned Western countries to keep hands off the Asian-African conference to be held in Indonesia April 18. He also criticized the defense alliances the Allies are concluding in Southeast Asia and the Middle East. He indicated he is more concerned with the threat of "colonialism" by the big powers of the free world than with the threat of Communist aggression.

Many Killed In Philippine Earthquake

By RUDOLFO NAZARENO
United Press Staff Correspondent

OZAMIS CITY, Mindanao, April 2P—Scores of Filipinos reported missing after Friday's violent earthquakes staged joyous reunions today with their homeless families at government tent cities.

Authorities said at least 181 died in the seven hours of violent earth-shocks and that the toll might reach 200 when casualties are known in outlying villages in the three northern provinces.

The return of many missing after wandering for hours in shocked and dazed condition trimmed sharply the number feared dead. The latest casualty count by the Fourth Military District of Lanao Province, the hardest-hit, said 164 were dead and 26 were missing. Seventeen were reported killed in Ozamis City in Misamis Occidental Province.

Hundreds of persons were reported injured and thousands left homeless by what some authorities described as one of the most severe earthquakes in Philippine history. Damages ran into the millions of dollars.

President Ramon Maguysay flew here today from Manila and toured the stricken areas to chart relief plans for the survivors. Maguysay earmarked $250,000 of his discretionary funds for emergency relief.

Feeble tremors continued throughout the area, registering on seismographs every three or four hours. But the shocks were decreasing and "will soon taper off," the director of the weather bureau said.

Red Cross administrator Mam-tun Sabar said the Lake Lanao was clogged with the bodies of the dead, parts of houses and other debris. According to the reports, 148 of the victims were lake-side residents. The lake, which covers approximately 70 to 80 square miles was swept by "tidal waves" which crashed into villages where the victims apparently had no time to flee.

Air Force Doctors
Behind Maguysay came the U.S. 13th Air Force Rescue Amphibian Unit carrying doctors and nurses and medical supplies.

Four Philippine Air Force cargo planes flew in tons of tents, clothing, food and medical supplies. Additional relief was en route by ship from Manila.

Survivors in Ozamis City flocked today to pray before a picture of the Blessed Virgin of Carmen painted on the only wall of the 24-hour fort city to withstand the shocks. Many viewed as a miracle the fact that the wall stood while the others crumbled and sank.

TO HEAD CAMPAIGN

FULTON 3P—Smith Atkins, president of the Fulton Bank, will head the campaign for gubernatorial candidate A. B. Chandler here, it was announced yesterday.

Atkins will also serve as co-chairman with O. Johnson, Hickman, chairman of Chandler's campaign in Fulton County.

City Council Holds Meeting Last Night

The Murray City Council met last night at 7:00 o'clock in their regular session.

Regular city business was conducted. It was announced that the lift stations are now complete and are in service. Some finishing work is to be done on them still. The stations are located at 15th and Sycamore and behind the Murray State College stadium.

Mayor George Hart announced that the state was contemplating reworking South Fourth street from Elm to the bridge at the bottom of the hill by the ice plant.

Judge Bob McCuiston presented his quarterly report to the council.

The report follows:

Drinks	57
Reckless Driving	17
Speeders	36
Breach of Peace	5
Running Stop Lights	8
Drunk Driving	7
Unnecessary Noise	10
Fines collected	$1,883.10

A delegation from Wells Drive appeared before the council to request that some work be done on widening the street. The idea is to make the street wider and leave an approximate six foot strip down the center for beautification.

The council expressed the hope that this summer paving can be done in the city such as has been done in the past.

$341.50 In So Far In Drive

A total of $341.50 has been contributed in Calloway county to the Easter Seal campaign for crippled children. Howard Olla and Gerald Dent, chairman, said today.

"That's only a small part of what we need," they said.

The state-wide goal of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children is $200,000 by Easter Sunday.

"We already are committed to spend $200,000 this year on service to crippled children. If we don't make our goal, we'll have to cut down on help," they said.

"We're not asked to give much. Supplying you give five dollars. Actually that's only about one-and-one-third cents each day of the year to help our crippled children."

"If you give one dollar, you're spending only a third of a cent each day. When you consider the great good a small amount of money can do—that is a very small price," Olla and Dent said.

"Dollars add up. For instance, one day at a crippled children's hospital costs $11 or $12 in donations. A pair of the simplest leg braces costs $10 or $11. Wheel chairs cost anywhere from $100 to $200. Artificial limbs and training in their use are expensive, and occupational and physical therapy don't cost needy patients anything, but they're costly to the Easter Seal Society," they continued.

"In the long run, all these things furnished by Easter Seals do save us money. It's less expensive, as well as more humanitarian, to get on their feet physically and economically, than it is to support them through taxes," the council concluded.

The Easter Seal society in Kentucky furnishes medical care, treatment, therapy, schooling, artificial limbs and other special equipment, hearing aids, recreation and other vital programs for crippled children and adults.

VIOLATOR

MEXICO CITY 3P—George Adamsky, who claims to have talked with flying saucer visitors from Venus, paid a $40 fine Friday for violating Mexico's tourist rules.

The American businessman, author of the book "Flying Saucers Have Landed," was cited by immigration officials for delivering paid lectures while traveling under a tourist card.

New Concord Club Has Regular Meet At Kingins' Home

For the March meeting the New Concord Homemakers Club assembled in the home of Mrs. Billie Kingins with the president, Mrs. Charles Stubblefield, presiding. Mrs. Leon Adams substituted as secretary in the absence of Miss Erin Montgomery. Eight members answered the roll call after which Mrs. Loman Bailey gave the devotional reading, verses 3:5-5, and gave as a thought for the day, "Little Psalm."

Mrs. Stubblefield gave a report on the Advisory Council meeting and announced that the district meeting will be held at Murray State College on April 21 with Miss Ann Guthrie as principal speaker.

Mrs. Billie Kingins and Mrs. Taft Patterson gave the main lesson on "Choosing Shoes and Purse, To Complete The Ensemble." The shape, design, size, and construction should be considered when buying a purse as it is an effective help in completing a costume. Since the average person wears shoes from fourteen to sixteen hours of the day and much of that time is spent standing or walking, comfort is of greatest importance in selecting shoes with wearing qualities and neat appearance.

The members discussed what they would like to have as a program for another year.

The hostess served a delectable party plate to the eight members and two visitors, Mrs. Carl Weeks and Mrs. Harford Adams.

Personals

A daughter, Margaret Anita, weighing nine pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Redden of Murray Route Four at the Murray Hospital on Friday, March 25.

SIR PIERSON DIXON of Britain is shown urging the UN Security Council to adopt a three-power resolution to censure Israel for the recent Gaza strip outbreak. Listening are Soviet Delegate A. A. Sobolev (left) and U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge. Sobolev blamed the western powers for tensions in the Middle East. While the UN was adopting the censure resolution, two new outbreaks of fighting flared on Israel borders, again with Egyptians and one with Jordanians. (International)
